About ISTE

Indian Society for Technical Education (ISTE) is a national level professional non-profit society in the field of technical education in India. In the year 1941, ATPI, the Association of Principals of Technical institutions, was initiated. In 1967, the ATPI was reconstituted as ISTE with the intention to expand its activities for the advancement of technical education. The ISTE plays an important role to improve the standards of education. It cooperates with Central and State Governments, industry and approved institutions, professional bodies, like AICTE, MHRD, DST and individuals in bringing out new initiatives for elevating standards of technical education in India.

About the Convention

ISTE is highly reputed society in improving quality in India and it has vast history of developing skills and competencies of technical faculty. ISTE along with technical institutions conducts annual faculty conventions at national level and at the level of various sections to discuss, and exchange knowledge on the issues related to upliftment of technical education in particular and society in general.

The Sustainable Development Goals were adopted by the United Nations in 2015 as a call-to-action for people worldwide to address five critical areas of importance by 2030: people, planet, prosperity, peace, and partnership. Higher Education Institutes play vital role in achieving Sustainable Development Goals. HEIs can integrate SDGs into their curriculum, campus operations, Research & innovation, idea incubation and creation of start-ups that cater to one or a combination of more goals under the SDGS. HEIs are also accountable for shaping next generation professionals as ethical and responsible human beings, who will have the decisive impact on achieving SDGs.

Sairam Institutions are pioneering by adopting SDGs in all their Academic & Research activities. The convention is framed to propagate the importance of SDGs and role of HEIs and their stake holders in achieving SDGs.
