Submitted,

Sub: Submission – Mind the Gap-Report - Reg.,

With respect to the above subject, we organized an event Mind the gap without gadgets in association with ISTE chapter of our institution for our second year students on 19.02.2025. The Event has started around 10:30 in the college lobby. Dr. Sivaprakash C Prof & Head-AIML addressed the students about the importance of reading habits. He said that the aim of this event is to promote deep focus, creativity for the real experience of reading books and free from digital distractions. Many students and faculty members have participated in the event. They brought their favorite books and spent time reading in a quiet and peaceful environment. Without gadgets, they could focus better and enjoy their books by reading. The event reminded everyone about the joy of reading physical books and how it helps improve concentration and imagination. The event was a great success. It inspired many people to make reading without gadgets a regular habit. Seeing the positive response, we hope to organize more such events in the future to promote book reading and reduce the usage of gadgets. The book reading event has completed around 12:00 noon. At the end HoD thank Management, Principal and ISTE chapter of our institution for having grant permission to organize this event.

Herewith the glimpses of the event have been enclosed.

Thanking you,
